

Confident Discipleship

Written by Mission

One of the biggest assignments for Christians today is the prophetic challenge to be confident disciples. It is generally agreed by the churches of most denominations that we need to be more confident in our discipleship, so we seek to produce resources to build confidence in the gospel, in God and in ourselves.

A new project is being set up in Cambridgeshire, and further information about this will be reported later.